VOICE OF THE BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY

Vol. 9 No. 24 Thursday, Oct. 25, 1956 Provo Utah

WINTER'S FIRST FROSTY TOUCH

Girding for the beginning of a new winter season at Brigham Young University, Howard Ellison, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, wipes the first evidence of winter's icy effects from his windshield. Temperatures plummeted and a trace of snow brought realization Wednesday that time has come to rehabilitate forgotten overcoats and earmuffs.

Strengthening Expansion Urged For Student Government Functions

STRENGTHENING AND broadening the scope of student body government was stressed by Studentbody President Monroe McKay in his "State of the Union" address to the student senate Wednesday evening.

"One of the great failures of our vast student government has been in communicating with the studentbody in general," he said. "There has also been a general neglect of bringing a wide variety of persons in to participate in student government," the student leader added.

McKAY SUGGESTED to officers of all student government that they participate in the program set up by the executive council whereby student leaders are available to "appear on the carpet" before interested student groups and in public places. This he said should give students an opportunity to cross-examine leaders, express their feelings and opinions in various fields and to debate if they so desire.

He also announced the policy of the Executive Branch of our student government to limiting students to one job at the government level, thereby making assignments available for more students.

McKAY emphasized the importance of taking advantage of our cosmopolitan studentbody and showing more interest in national and international student affairs. "Our main emphasis has been on "BYUizing" students from different states and Americanizing foreign students," he stated. "We have, we American students, completely failed to promote a successful international relations club. We have an appalling ignorance of foreign affairs and people despite the fact that we have the opportunity at our finger tips."

He urged the senate and the studentbody to take advantage of BYU's delegate to the National Student Association, and to make contributions to the organization as well as to glean information and service from it.

McKAY stressed that through correspondence with past student presidents of BYU, he only think he will be able to discover that they had in common was the fact that they "changed the Constitution" during their administration. "The predominant trend of this ridiculousness he said, "is to make the Constitution a statement of fundamental policy and leave the rest to statutory enactment."

"The Constitution," he added, "should be a basic document, concerned with basic principles . . . matters flexible and difficult to determine should be left to statute."

REDUCTION of the number of queen elections was suggester and recommendation submitted to the senate that it direct attention toward setting up a student judiciary system.

McKay wound up his address by pledging his support to the administration and the tithepayers of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Council Passes 14 Bills Vetoes 1

FOURTEEN Senate bills were approved and one was vetoed by the Executive Council Tuesday.

Dealing mostly with routine appointments and bills which is required by the constitution to be passed each year by the studentbody, the bills include provisions for appointment of cabinet members.

Sole measure vetoed by the Executive Council, consisting of the Studentbody President, 1st and 2nd Vice Presidents, Secretary-Historian and Business Manager, was one providing for the appointment of a special executive assistant to the studentbody 2nd vice president.

THREE measures were called to the attention of the council by Senate President Dennis Olsen which were effective in previous years, but which the Senate did not ratify this year.

These measures included Senate recognition of the Honor Council and the honor code, the statute prohibiting the scheduling "an event for the same night on which a studentbody activity is scheduled" and that measure which provided for the use of a school searchlight unit.

Perhaps most signifinent in this non-ratification action is the dropping of the scheduling measure which heretofore had required organizations to request permission from the Senate before an event on the same night a studentbody function was scheduled.

THIS, IN effect, allows scheduling of events despite conflicts in activities.

Veto action on the 2nd vice president's assistant bill was used, according to President Monroe McKay, because the Executive Council felt the 2nd vice president did not need Senate-granted authority to create the office of an assistant.

Senate approval is required by members of the Executive

Senator Knowland To Speak at BYU

Sen William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) will speak to the studentbody in Thursday's assembly at 11 a. m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

An airport greeting at 10 a. m. is planned for by he congressman by the Brigham Young University Young Republicans and California Club. A car pool is to be made through Provo and in the campus will follow.

Knowland is California's senior senator and strong supporter of Vice President Richard Nixon.

He is speaking as a major figure of the Republican party Thursday.

Mrs. Knowland and their 18-year-old daughter are expected to accompany Knowland.

Small Ensemble Contest Entries For Homecoming Due Saturday

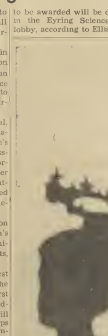
Deadline for application to enter the Homecoming Small Ensemble Competition is Saturday.

All vocal groups interested in competing in the competition may sign up on the bulletin board in the Student Service Center basement, according to Howard Ellison, contest chairman.

Social units geographical, service and honorary organizations are eligible for the men's and women's organization classes. Small ensemble groups organized from choirs or other groups organized from studentbody members, will be entered in the men's or women's independent competitions.

Five classes of competition are men's organizations, men's independents, women's organizations, women's independents, and mixed.

The quartet and trio contest will be staked Nov. 1 in the Smith Fieldhouse. The first place winners in the independent and mixed competitions will each receive trophies. Group winning in organizational competition will receive trophies for men's unit or club. The trophies to be awarded will be displayed in the Eyring Science Center lobby, according to Ellison.



WHO WILL IT BE?—Silhouettes display the uncertainty of who will be named King and Queen of this weekend's Sophomore Loan Fund Ball. Method of selection will be to draw ticket stubs from a box and name the couple who have matching number as royalty for the evening. Tickets for the fund affair are on sale all this week. First BYU Nurses Graduate; Qualify for 'RN' Degrees

THE FIRST CLASS of the Brigham Young University School of Nursing graduated last spring and have since passed their State Board Examinations with outstanding grades, according to Ruth Bloom of the nursing school.

This examination qualifies the graduates as registered nurses in Utah. The State Board scores for Utah rank high among other states in the nation, and the BYU graduates rated high within Utah.

GRADUTES of the first class were Lois Abbot, Salt Lake City; Yolande Allen, Provo; Janice Assy, Kousharam; Mary Alice Cook, Enterprise; Janice Cornwall, Salt Lake City; Nola Joan Davis, Las Vegas, Nev.; Judi Aida Jane Bennett, San Mateo, Calif.

Others include Evelyn Falsley, Benson; Margaret Janene Ferre, Salt Lake City; Mary Ann Hislin, Boulder, Colo.; Mary Lee Hiess, Grace, Idaho; Geraldine Johnson, Tempe, Ariz.; Calif., and Marjorie Ann Jones, Provo.

ALSO GRADUATING were Naomi Kauwa, Koolehua, Molokai, Hawaii; Ruth Kensington, Afton, Wyo.; Gayla Lloyd, Ogden; Margaret Park, Meeker; Elaine Patterson, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Mary Phelps, Provo.

Carol Randall, Los Angeles, Calif.; Pearl Rogers, Joseph, Ontario, Ore.; Carol Beth Wheeler, Salt Lake City; and Elizabeth Wiseman, Salt Lake City, also graduated.

The Utah State Board of Nurse Examiners visited the Brigham Young University School of Nursing October 11 and 12 to study the progress made in the school since its beginning four years ago.

The board gave the School of Nursing a temporary accreditation four years ago when the school was first started on the BYU campus, according to Ruth Bloom of the BYU School of Nursing.

Samoan's Funeral Set For Saturday

Funeral services for Mua Sisapaul, former student who died Monday, will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Smith Auditorium. Friends of the deceased may view the body at Berg's Mortuary Friday between 6 and 8 p.m., according to Bishop B. West Belnap. The body may also be seen in the lobby of the Smith Building immediately before the funeral.

Bishop Belnap, of BYU Eleventh Ward will conduct the funeral. Sisaul will be buried in Provo

2 BYU Journalists Named Delegates To National Meet

Two Brigham Young University journalists have been appointed delegates to the Associated Collegiate Press convention in Cleveland, Ohio, next month, Boyd Bird, Denver, Colo., and Sally Arnold, Redondo Beach, Calif., will accompany Dr. Oliver R Smith, chairman of the BYU Journalism department, to the Ohio meeting Dec. 28-31.

Pratt is art editor of the Banyan. He held the same position last year and did all the art work and layouts for the yearbook. He is a junior majoring in art.

Miss Arnold is a senior majoring in journalism. She has been campus editor of the Daily Universe since February of last year.

The BYU journalists will meet with representatives of college newspapers and yearbooks throughout the United States to discuss problems and procedures of producing campus publications.

however, of assistants appointed Council.

A three-fourths majority Senate vote is necessary for the Senate to override the Executive Council veto and pass the bill into law.

BILLS approved by the council provide for abolishment of the Homecoming Ball Committee, for lettering or lighting of campus signature other than lighting the "Y" by the Intercollegiate Knights, allowing BYU stock cattle to be given permission to wear a block "Y" insignia on their ear tags, and providing for organization of a committee to choose five yell leaders and cheerleaders.

Ten executive appointments to cabinet positions by the Executive Council, which had passed the Senate, were approved.

An amendment to the establishment of an Elections Committee was also to have interviewed and held elections for temporary Freshman Council members.

ORGANIZATION data and powers of the special events committee, under the jurisdiction of the Social Vice president was approved by the council and formation of Lyceum Committee to schedule speakers and lyceums," was officially sanctioned by the council.

A Hospitality Committee and and Elections Committee were formed as "host special guests attending studentbody assemblies," and to "organize and supervise elections" on campus, respectively.

OFFICIAL action by the council also provided for the delegation of authority to the student chairman of the Homecoming Committee with regard to Senate appointment of Bob and Duck Jenson, Bob Ward, Phil Call, and Paul Sandberg as varsity cheerleaders for the year.

Senate and Executive Council action again made provisions for the appointment of a dance director and for a pep activities director to supervise activities in these fields.

Final bill approved by the council outlined procedure for establishment of a studentbody Publicity Committee which consists of publicity chairmen of various organizations whose purpose is to "coordinate and direct" publicity for their groups.

This bill passed by the Senate was dated Oct. 3, 1956, and the enacted bills were forwarded to the Executive Council by Olsen for action Oct. 19, 1956.

Assembly Heads to Meet

Chairmen and script writers of all assemblies for the first half of the year should meet with the assembly committee Friday.

The special meeting has been called at 4 p.m. in the Executive Council conference room in the basement of the Student Service Crater, according to Carmen Brandley, chairman.

Committee Survey to Determine Provoans' Cooperative Attitudes

RESULTS of a survey now being made should indicate the extent of assistance and Provo merchants are willing to give Brigham Young University groups in various projects.

Purpose of the survey, according to Ted Johnson, off-campus publicity director, is to determine the attitude of Provo merchants concerning soliciting and fund-raising by student groups, and to evaluate the students' public relations standing with Provoans.

Probers Complete Preliminary Check Of Freshman Melee

Preliminary investigation into the Frosh Court fracas Oct. 5 have been completed by the Freshman Court Council.

The seven-man council was appointed to investigate the disturbance during the freshman week carnival in which two freshman students were injured.

Council Chairman Jim Wilcox, Calgary, Alta., Canada, in a recent Daily Universe interview, "the attitude of most of the students believed involves are beyond the jurisdiction of the council are in the process of contacting those concerned."

Students and faculty involved are being requested to attend a committee meeting scheduled for Monday evening, to discuss the problem.

Ted Boyer, Hayward, Calif., suffered head lacerations and Delbert Hamblin, Provo, suffered a broken clavicle in the melee which developed as freshmen students ran onto the field at the time freshman pushmobil was decided. The melee started throwing pies, eggs and buckets of water.

Myers and Madsen were hit with buckets.

3 New Members, 1 Returnee Boost Commerce Faculty

Joining the College of Commerce this fall are three new faculty and one who has returned from leave.

Dr. Howard Lowe, new head of finance and banking, returned to Brigham Young University from a sabbatical leave where he earned his doctorate from University of Indiana.

Lyman Wilson, instructor in industrial management, received his master's degree from Stanford University. He has served as consultant for a large airline and has prepared a film for teaching production processes.

Charles H. Bradford, instructor in economics, was graduated from University of Utah with a master's degree. He has taken parts in debate meets in Denver, Colo., Linfield, Ore., and West Point, N. Y.

Willard Doxey is also a University of Utah graduate.

He served in the U. S. Army and attended Officers' Training School. He received his Ph.D. from University of California at Berkeley.

Conducting the survey is the Publicity Contact Subcommittee of the Public Relations Committee, headed by Darrell Bushnell, Provo.

THE COMMITTEE expects to compile a list of goods and supplements available for loan to students and student groups, Johnson said.

He also said that Provo merchants are being asked not to loan or give away materials to any student unless the student has an authorization card from the university, which can be obtained in the Student Coordinator's office, basement Student Service Center.

JOHNSON warned that those who have need of borrowing or getting on credit should decide if possible, determine where they can obtain the desired articles before asking for university authorization.

"We are not a procurement bureau," Johnson said, "so every effort should be made to find a source of supply."

He emphasized, however, that a list of available materials will be maintained by the committee and it will be updated as needed.

Completion of the survey by the Public Relations Committee is expected Friday evening, Johnson said.

Attorney General To Address GOP

Young Republicans will hear Utah Attorney General E. R. Callister on campus Thursday, according to Don Jensen of the Young Republican executive committee.

Callister will be speaking at various times and places throughout the day, including a luncheon at 7:30 in the Joseph Smith clubroom.

The Utah official had experience working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation during his law career. He is seeking reelection to the office of attorney general.

Controversial Entertainment Figure Discussed

by Nadine Hall
Daily Universe Writer

ELVIS PRESLEY, a wild rock'n roller who never took a guitar lesson in his life and can't read music, is the most controversial figure in the entertainment world today.

Long sideburns, a ducktail haircut, and vulgar gyrations have netted Presley 3000 fan letters a week. His "Heartbreak Hotel" and "Blue Suede Shoes" profited him six million dollars.

ELVIS IS dominating the disc jockey programs, sought after for television appearances and robbed by frantic fans Presley being so popular throughout the nation, we wondered how he was regarded at the Brigham Young University.

Taking a survey among the music mongers, we discovered that Elvis rated high with a majority of the coeds and low with the men on campus.

Some of the fems have Presley pictures adorning their hall, bedroom, and kitchen walls. Others remarked that their day is a success if they wake up the melodious strains of "Hound Dog" and hear "Don't Be Cruel" as they retire.

WE HEARD a chorus of shrieks above us the other day so we proceeded upstairs to see who was the victim. Elvis is coming to Utah was all the information we could gather. One of the distraught did sigh. "Its that precious panicky Presley."

Getting to the masculine comments, one listener confided that Elvis' latest spinner, "Love Me Tender," was not bad but sounded like Burl Ives with gasps between words.

ANOTHER male desired to send for a lock of Presley's sideburns, braid it, and hang himself when he heard an Elvis tune.

As for this reporter, Presley has taken the rock'n roll craze to new sales heights and dragged it to new lows in taste.

Remember When?

The return of Fred "Buck" Dixon to BYU made the outlook of the 1924 football season much brighter. Dixon was the only four letterman the school had. He had been considering attending coaching school at the University of Illinois.

Our "Bob" Howard was elected captain of the 1925 basketball team.

The basketball team managed to beat West High of Salt Lake City 28-16.

Kittens Head For Logan To Tangle With Utags

by Mark Murphy

THURSDAY the attention of all BYU football fandom will be turned to Logan for a sign of the future as the highly touted Cougar frosh tangle with the Utah State yearlings in their first battle-test of the year.

According to Coach Max Tolbert, his young charges will go into the game, as slight underdogs to the Aggies who already have one game under their belts. Scouting reports reveal that the Farmers are big and composed mostly of out of state personnel.

THE COUGAR cubs have spent the last three days of practice polishing their offensive machinery; however, threatening weather may hamper their improved passing attack.

Presently the Kittens are bothered by injuries to several key men. Lost for the season with a broken wrist is Floyd Winger, big halfback from Salt Lake City. Another loss for the season is Norm Putnam, 205 lb guard from Durango, Colo. Chad Moon, husky fullback, is also possibly lost for the year with a bad knee.

TACKLE LONNIE Dennis, backs Tom Stoiworthy and Joe McGinn are also on the disabled list McGinn and Dennis will probably be ready for the Utah State game. However, Stolworthy is doubtful so far as the Aggie game is concerned, said Coach Tolbert.

Coach Tolbert, blessed with a wealth of talent, plans to throw two equally strong teams at the Farmers. The first combination will be with a lanky end due of Dick Wulstenhulme, 185 lbs, and Gary Merrill, 165 lb. tackled John Kapele, 222 lbs , and Rex Reeve, 205 lbs; guards George Kinder, 200 lbs., and Tom Freestone, 185 lbs. Big Ed Flint, 220 lbs., will start at center.

IN THE backfield for the starting team will be Ron Startin, 170 lb. quarterback; Keith Hubbs, 170 lb. left half; Wayne Chamberlain, 165 lb. right half; and burly Curtis Brown, 205 lb. fullback.

Coach Tolbert feels that his second platoon is on a par with the first and will probably see an equal amount of action. Starting for this impressive unit are ends George Smith, 200 lbs., and Thom Blohm, a swift running 19 pounder. Lonnie Dennis, 220 lbs. and Milan Christley, 210 lbs., rugged tackle combine. Jay Goldman, 205 lbs., and Wayne Lloyd, 210, will open at guard. Mel Brown, 190 lbs , will play at center.

TOSS IT ! ! —Action takes place in an intramural flag football contest. Play continues on this week as champion game looms ahead. (Photo by Larry Heppler)

Fifty Teams From Six Leagu In Intramural Football Tourn

A WEEK of highly competitive flag football play has been the feature of Brigham Young University's expansive intramural system, according to William Hafen, director of the program.

Nearly 500 players comprising six leagues and fifty teams will play 185 games before the season ends.

This year's program is a vast improvement in participation and organization over previous years, 'which is in keeping with growth and development in general at BYU," Hafen stated.

LAUDING the value of sportsmanship development, Hafen, who, with the aid of his assistant, Jack Cook, organized the program, was quick to caution players against "over competition" and excessive aggressiveness.

"An intramural contest is only a game and not a matter of life and death," cautioned the director.

A week of spirited play finishes leagues and their leaders as follows. Western League, Bombers, Kuhle Kritze and Gastre 34; Eastern League, Glendale West; Southern League, Terps, Chaps by Tigers and Gone Johns;

Northern League, D-3 and V ol Tod, Ivy League, Ha Club, California Club and Hall No. 1; Skyline L Brigadiers and Taisigs.

THE SIX leagues are n volved in playing a round- bin tourney to determin winner The winners of e the circuits will then p tourney to determine th champs of the school.

Hafen also indicated th is the largest flag progra the history of BYU and rank favorably among th ot universities of the na

If a team forfeits two t is automatically dropped league play.

Sports other than flag ball are being organized tramural department Tab tennis, volleyball and horsesoi ll be taking the spotlight with plans for basketball softball in the future made.

Any student interested i ing part in any intramu tivity, either through enti team or playing individ s urged to contact the intra al department, room 217, Fieldhouse, according to Hafen, intramural directo
